

Disclaimer

learnmatrixvision.com

MatrixVision Home Practitioner Course and MatrixVision Training Pack LPC Management OÜ — learnmatrixvision.com

1. What this training is

The MatrixVision Home Practitioner Course is educational and experiential training. You buy access to instructional material — video lessons, written procedures, practice templates and an integration programme — which you work through yourself, at home, at your own pace.

That is the whole of what is being sold. Nothing else is promised.

2. It is not medical treatment

MatrixVision is not medicine, therapy or healthcare of any kind. In particular, and without limitation:

- it does not diagnose, treat, cure, halt, reverse or alleviate any illness, disease, injury, disability or condition of any kind, whether of the eyes or otherwise;
- it is not an eye examination, a vision test, an optical or ophthalmic service, a rehabilitation service or an assistive technology;
- it is not provided by doctors, optometrists, ophthalmologists, orthoptists, therapists or any other regulated health profession, and no one delivering it is acting in such a capacity;
- nothing in the course, the materials or on this website is medical advice, and none of it should be understood or relied on as such.

Never use this training as a reason to delay, reduce, change or stop any medical care, examination, medication, treatment, assistive aid or professional advice. If you have any condition affecting your eyes, your vision, your neurological health or your general health, speak to your doctor or eye specialist. If you are considering this training because your eyesight is declining, tell your eye specialist that you are doing it and keep your regular appointments.

If you experience any symptom that concerns you — during the exercises or at any other time — stop and seek medical attention.

3. No promise of results

No outcome of any kind is guaranteed. Results differ from person to person and cannot be predicted.

Some participants report reaching the abilities the protocol works towards within days. Others take weeks or months. Some never reach them at all. That is stated plainly here because it is true, and because nobody can honestly promise otherwise.

Whether you obtain any result depends on factors outside our control, including how consistently you practise, your age, your circumstances and individual differences we do not claim to understand. Buying the course, completing every lesson and following every instruction does not entitle you to any particular result.

Any account, description or example given by us, by another participant or by anyone else describes that individual's experience only. It is not a representation of typical results and it is not a promise of what will happen for you. We have not verified individual accounts unless we expressly say so.

4. No scientific claim

We do not claim that the mechanism underlying this training is established science. The "Alternative Visual Channel" and the "Center of Direct Perception" are working concepts used within the method to describe what participants train. They are not recognised concepts in physiology, and we do not present them as such.

What we do claim is narrower: that the method is set down as a defined, repeatable procedure, and that each stage contains a way of checking your own result before moving on. Nothing on this website should be read as asserting scientific validation, peer review, clinical evidence or regulatory approval, because there is none.

5. Practise safely

The exercises involve wearing a mask or blindfold that removes ordinary sight. Please take this seriously.

- Practise seated, in a safe, familiar indoor space, clear of stairs, glass, open water, heat sources, sharp objects and anything you could fall from or into.
- Never wear the mask, or attempt any exercise, while driving, cycling, operating machinery, cooking, using tools, swimming, in traffic or near a road, or in any other situation where not seeing could cause harm to you or anyone else.
- Do not use the training to navigate, to move about, or in place of a cane, guide dog, sighted guide or any other mobility aid, in any circumstances, however well the exercises seem to be going.
- Stop immediately if you feel dizzy, faint, nauseous, disoriented, anxious or unwell, or if you develop headache or eye discomfort. Remove the mask, rest, and do not continue that session.
- Take breaks. Do not extend sessions beyond the durations given in the protocol.
- Children must be supervised by a responsible adult throughout, and the materials, masks and cups must be kept out of reach of small children. Small parts and plastic bags are a hazard to young children.
- If you have epilepsy, a history of seizures, a psychiatric or dissociative condition, or any condition that could be affected by sensory restriction, consult your doctor before starting.

You remain responsible for your own safety and for the safety of anyone practising with you, including any second household member and any child.

6. No professional or teaching qualification

Completing the course does not qualify, license, certify or authorise you to teach, instruct, demonstrate or offer this method or any part of it to others, whether for payment or otherwise. It confers no professional title, credential or accreditation of any kind, and it is not recognised by any educational or professional body.

7. Accuracy of this website

We prepare the content of this website and of the course materials with care, but we do not warrant that it is complete, current or free from error. We may change, correct or withdraw content at any time.

Where this website links to other websites, we have no influence over their content and accept no responsibility for it. Responsibility for a linked page lies with its own operator.

8. Liability

Nothing in this disclaimer, and nothing anywhere else on this website or in our terms, limits or excludes our liability for:

- death or personal injury caused by our negligence;

- fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation;
- damage caused intentionally or by gross negligence; or
- any other liability which cannot lawfully be limited or excluded, including any liability under mandatory consumer protection or product liability rules and any liability arising from a guarantee we have expressly given.

Subject to that, and to the fullest extent permitted by law:

1. Where we breach an obligation whose fulfilment is essential to the proper performance of the contract and on which you may reasonably rely, our liability for simple negligence is limited to the loss that was foreseeable and typical for a contract of this kind at the time it was concluded. 2. We are not liable in simple negligence for the breach of any obligation that is not of that essential kind. 3. We are not liable for loss of profit, loss of opportunity, loss of data, or any indirect or consequential loss. 4. We are not liable for any consequence of your not following the safety instructions in Section 5, or of using the training in a way this disclaimer tells you not to.

These limitations also apply in favour of our directors, employees, instructors and contractors.

9. Your statutory rights

This disclaimer does not affect your statutory rights as a consumer, including your right of withdrawal and your rights in respect of goods that are faulty or not as described. Where anything in this disclaimer conflicts with a right you have under the law of your country of residence that cannot be varied by agreement, that right prevails.

Status of this disclaimer: 13 August 2026

LPC Management OÜ · Pärnu mnt 139b, 11317 Tallinn, Estonia · Registry code 17569187 · support@lpcgroup.com
